Rev. Michael Ellick is the Minister of Judson Memorial Church, and one of the founders of Occupy Faith in New York City. In his ministry, he has worked as an organizer and a social justice advocate for Immigrant Rights, Marriage Equality, Single Payer Health Care, Economic & Environmental Justice, and Racial Profiling. Rev. Ellick is particularly interested in understanding the Christian Passion Story in an America threatened by falling Empire and failing Plutocracy.

At Judson, Rev. Ellick has embraced Judson's legacy as a Research & Development Laboratory for American Christianity. Committed to establishing a new Christian vocabulary for a post-Christian world, Rev. Ellick's exploration of new theological forms has grown out of his commitment to the social gospel in action, and the practice of God's presence in silent prayer, reflection, and meditation. He currently lives in Greenwich Village.
