

December 2011

Hi Folks,

Once again, we at Resistance Cinema want to wish you Season's Greetings and express our thanks for your warm support.

Since our beginning in the summer of 2003 Resistance Cinema has presented several hundred documentaries and forums made possible by your loyalty and contributions. In the process RC has given support and exposure to a diverse group of filmmakers and speakers. We purchase their films, publicize and present them to the CCNY community as well as the general public. This year we helped organizations such as the Global Network against Nuclear Weapons in Space, Medecins Sans Frontieres, the Grassroots Education Movement, New Sanctuary and other sister organizations. We can take pride in what we have achieved together over the past eight years.

Our 2011 screenings are book-ended by Latin America. The first screening was Oliver Stone's SOUTH OF THE BORDER and we'll close with Woody Allen's BANANAS. In between we have traveled far and wide - from Asia to Europe, Africa and Outer Space. Closer to home we have visited areas that informed us about Mumia Abu-Jamal; charter schools; the economy; war and nuclear issues; JFK's assassination; health and diet; space weaponry; and hydrofracking.

Russell's dogged persistence gained us a larger screen, better sound, not to mention Skype connections to Anita in Pune, India and guest speakers, and, although Occupy Wall Street has to use a mic-check system, our microphone is a better way for our post-screening exchanges.

For a complete listing of our documentaries from 2003 onward, the website Russell maintains is <http://russellbranca.com/AriaAperta/Projects/ResistanceCinema.html>

Looking forward to 2012 with you, we join in sending all Good Wishes for the Holidays and our thanks!
